"THE INSIDE OF THE CUP."

Sermon by Rev. W. C. Curtis.

TEXT—Matt. 23, 25 and 26.

Woe unto you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye cleanse the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess. Thou blind Pharisee, cleanse first the inside of the cup and of the platter, that the outside thereof may become clean also.

The book that has been the best seller in recent months at least the best order to the best class of readers, is Winston Churchill's "The Inside of the Cup."

There are two good reasons for this: first—the great popularity of its author and secondly—the fact that there are so many intelligent high-minded people who are interested in the questions the book discusses, such as: Is the church fulfilling its mission? Shall we follow away her creeds and radically change her customs? What can be done to insure a fair chance in life to each child that comes into the world? Shall we all become socialists? Should the church receive gifts of ill-gotten gains, and what should be its attitude toward those who offend them? We have presented the conflict between the old and the new in Theology, ethics and economics.

The author in his preface and in his afterword, modestly disclaims that he is offering a final solution of these questions through the young reader who is the center of the story. But really there is much of free debate of ideas, conceptions and desires along the line of the questions just enumerated.

The book opens with a description of some of the leading members of a wealthy Episcopal church, St. John's, a town church, in a flourishing city in the middle west. The old long time pastor, a saintly man of the old school, was recently died; and John Holder has just been called from a quiet pastorate in Vermont, where he has been happy in his work and much loved by the people to succeed Dr. Gilman, deceased. The new, young rector soon makes discoveries. The first is that St. John's is a church compelled by one man power; and the strong man is a financial magnate, whose potent influence is exercised also in both political and religious circles. This man by his unrighteous transactions has made a few people rich and many poor. He finds also that while the church is doing good, and contributing to the physical good, and the social betterment of the poorer people around it, it is not reaching and satisfying their spiritual needs. There is an assistant rector and a second assistant, there are guilds and classes and recreation rooms, but John Holder soon perceives that all the work of his church, his preaching, his study, is short two for the real work for which a church should exist, the making of Christians. The atmosphere of his Sunday morning congregations makes no appeal to the common people to gather with them in worship.

The new rector receives the knell of a most considerate treatment from the church people, and is soon on the most friendly and even intimate terms with the financial magnate, his chief benefactor, Elton Parr. The rector also makes friends not only with the church, but he gains access to the people. He feels that the doctrine he preaches is the best of any real good to those who come to him though they often praise him in silence.

It takes some time for him to see the situation of these discoveries. There is Elton Parr the rich man who lives in a large house behind his barrier of wealth and power, and his daughter Alma who leaves him alone and goes away to lead her own life and pay her two ways with money that is not tainted. There is Ferguson another wealthy man, who owns the great department store and who is getting rich quite fast to comfort with luxury and ease and with righteousness, and there is Ferguson, also a wealthy man, and a secretary, who can draw up a contract with the most intricate details of their deal and fraud and robbery which will yet evade the law. There is Dalton street with its squatters, its vice, pollution and trashiness. There is a house down the road where the poor live miserably in its midst. And there

OXFORD DEMOCRATS

Boon B. G. McIntire for Governor.

The Oxford County Democrats held a large and enthusiastic meeting at the Court House in St. Paris on Nov. 21st.

Judge McCarthy of Bangor presided. After a short speech reviewing the good work of the party and complimenting the representation at the meeting, Mr. McCarthy called upon the following committeemen: William Gordon, Fryburg; Dr. O. K. Yates, West Paris; Thomas S. Bridgman, Buckfield and A. E. Shurtless, Norway. All of these gentlemen brought messages of good cheer from their localities, a summary of their report being that never in the history of Democracy was the outlook so favorable as it is now.

Chairman McCarthy then called upon Hon. Cyrus W. Davis of Waterville, former secretary of State and Congressman D. J. McGillivray, both of whom gave messages of encouragement and cheer. Hon. A. S. Kimball of Norway was the next speaker. He reviewed the history of Oxford County Democracy, going back to those days when it was impossible to get but an attendance of more than 15 or 20 at the county conventions.

Mr. Kimball concluded by reading the resolutions asking Mr. McIntire's consent to present his name at the June primaries as a candidate for Governor.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved: That the Democrats of Oxford County in conference assembled, unanimously request the Hon. B. G. McIntire of Waterville to grant permission to present his name in the June primary to the Democrats of the State of Maine as candidate for Governor. The resolution was unanimously and enthusiastically adopted by a rising vote by the 125 Democrats present.

McIntire Spoke.

When the demonstration had subsided there were calls for Mr. McIntire. As he came forward to acknowledge the honor, he was received with prolonged applause. He spoke in part as follows:

"I would be less than human if I did not try to show my appreciation of this expression of your kindness to me. I cannot easily suppress the emotion I feel at this time and certainly shall not attempt to make a speech. We are not to forget in the coming campaign that there are 15 other counties in our State and all of them desire with you the best good of the people of Maine. That must always come first. Local pride must be secondary. I care not who the man is not whom county he comes from, I feel that an important matter as this might well wait until the proper time of it should so happen that O. C. D. S. C. should appear to you by reason of the good work she has done and is doing and she should make no effort to procure the candidate and should really want me it would be difficult to refuse."

"It matters not to me who the candidate is nor from what part of the State he comes, he will represent the principles of the Democratic party and the best interests of the people of our State. And for that reason O. C. D. S. C. will be found on the firing line. And as for me, personally, no man within our ranks will give that candidate more loyal or hearty support than I will."

Mr. McIntire is a former clerk of Oxford County, and one of the state assessors and a member of the Democratic State Committee. He has the reputation of being a clean, good headed man with no dark spots in his record. He has a wife and a daughter and it is believed that should he be the Democratic nominee for Governor that he would draw heavily from the Republican vote.

The forenoon session of the conference, opened after the arrival of the trains continued till well past noon. The afternoon session was held in the Court House and was presided over by Mr. R. Kimball of Bangor. The session was held in the Court House and was presided over by Mr. R. Kimball of Bangor. The session was held in the Court House and was presided over by Mr. R. OXFORD REPUBLICANS

Held Conference Nov. 19.

In response to the call of Hon. H. H. Hastings, Oxford County member of the Republican State Committee, a meeting of the Republicans of the county, for conference, was held at the Court House Wednesday afternoon. On account of the funeral of Judge Foster on Tuesday, a postponement had been hastily made from that day, and a few who were here on Tuesday, or would have been, were not here on Wednesday. Nevertheless there were forty or more representative Republicans present from all parts of the county, a larger number than had been expected.

Mr. Hastings was made chairman of the conference, and George M. Atwood secretary. The situation of the party was discussed, and plans made to reconstitute the organization, which was more or less disrupted by the Progressive movement in 1912. In the fall of that year the entire county committee transferred their resignations to the chairman of the state committee, who pointed out in response that he had no authority to accept them. Two of the committee have since removed from the state, one is incapacitated, and only one member, Hon. Randall L. Taylor of Mexico, was present at the conference, who announced his intention of acting with the Republican organization. There were also resignations from a number of the town committees, the vacancies in some towns having been filled, while in other towns they still exist. Measures will be taken to fill these vacancies.

Addresses were made by a number of those present, and the conference, which was enthusiastic all the way through, lasted two hours or more, until train time. A number of the men present stated that they voted for Roosevelt last year, but did so as Republicans, and expected to act with the party. The following preamble and resolution, introduced by Hon. James S. Wright, was unanimously adopted. We, the Republicans of Oxford County, in conference assembled, this 19th day of November, 1913, hereby declare our firm and abiding faith in the policy of prohibition, and our adherence to progressive principles.

The people are more prosperous under prohibitive liquor laws, well enforced, great trusts and combinations must be regulated and controlled by government; the judiciary, while not dependent and free from action at the will of passion and prejudice.

Therefore, Resolved, that we invite a cooperation of our former political opponents, feeling that those who think alike upon great public questions are important to our well-being and prosperity should find some common ground of action. The interests of our state particularly are too precious to be jeopardized by division, faction, prejudice and family disagreement.

COLUMBIAN CLUB.

Those members of this popular club who were present at the last meeting of the Ladies of the Republic, Miss Lane, were cordially welcomed, and it was agreed to be a meeting of annual interest.

The country of South America is being studied this season and in view of the fact that it has made rapid strides in development within the last decade it is clear that we need to have ourselves well informed as to it. After the program our visitor, Miss Helen M. Staples, entertained us very pleasantly by relating her experiences in a tour where she attended the annual convention in 1912. This was followed by a thrilling account of the earthquake which occurred the next day after the landing of the carnival. Miss Pye served delicious refreshments from her apartment and we adjourned to meet in two weeks with Mrs. Strawn.

STEVENSON-ELLIOTT.

There was another wedding at the Congressional passenger Friday after noon, Nov. 21. Mr. Arthur V. Stevens and Miss Evelyn M. Elliott both of Bangor, Maine, were united in marriage by Rev. W. C. Curtis. The single day service was used. Miss Elliott was a student in Gould's Academy and was a member of the Gould's Academy. She was a student in Gould's Academy and was a member of the Gould's Academy. She was a student in Gould's Academy and was a member of the Gould's Academy.

Mr. Stevens was a student in Gould's Academy and was a member of the Gould's Academy. He was a student in Gould's Academy and was a member of the Gould's Academy. He was a student in Gould's Academy and was a member of the Gould's Academy.

GOULD'S ACADEMY NEWS.

Wednesday evening, Nov. 19, in spite of a pouring rain, about forty assembled at Gould's Academy to hear Miss Sanderson and Miss Hanson of the Y. W. C. A., at Colby College speak to the Gould's girls and their friends.

Miss Sanderson told about a recent trip to the Occupational Conference at Simmons College, Boston. Miss Hanson talked about a visit to Silver Bay and gave some practical hints in Y. W. C. A. work. There was music by Margaret and Blanche Herrick, and Miss Hanson's talk was followed by an informal discussion which was very helpful. The Gould's girls enjoyed the occasion very much and feel that they derived benefit from it.

Two exciting games of basketball were played in the gymnasium of Gould's Academy, Nov. 21. The Seniors played against the Juniors and the Sophomores against the Freshmen. Seniors 7: Farnham, rt., Tyler, lf., Hamlin, c., Chandler, lg., Harrington, Brown, rg., Kendall, Summary: Goals from floor: Brown 1, Rounds 1, Kendall 2, Chandler 1, Goals from fouls: Chandler 3, Rounds 2, Cole 1, Gould 1, Referee, C. Small, Scorer, Miss Pratt, Timer, J. H. Moore. Sophomores 41: Hayford, rt., King, lf., Howe, c., L. Piggree, Chapman, rg., Abbott, lg., Summary: Goals from floor: Hayford 3, King 1, Howe 13, Chapman 1, Abbott 1, A. Piggree 2, Roy Cummings 2, Goals from fouls: King 1, Howe 2, Hamlin 1, Referee, Small, Umpire, Gould, Scorer, Miss Pratt, Timer, Moore.

Finals for championship of the school will be played later. All are looking forward with much interest to this game. Watch for the announcement of the date and avail yourself of the opportunity of seeing one of the best games of the season.

The students are looking forward to a short Thanksgiving recess from Wednesday night to Monday morning.

We notice the members of the school team are wearing new basket ball suits of which they are quite proud. Let us hope this will inspire them to win.

Last Friday, a part of the afternoon was given to the Sophomores and Freshmen who entertained the other classes with demonstrations.

This week, the regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held Tuesday after school instead of Wednesday. Rev. W. C. Curtis was the subject for the meeting with Mrs. Pratt as helper.

Removal of illness, Robert Farwell was absent from school all of last week.

Mr. J. W. Taylor, supervisor of secondary schools, visited Gould's Academy last Thursday, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the work being done by the teachers and students.

P. CITY CHAPTER O. E. S. VISITS RUMFORD CHAPTER.

Eighteen members of Purity Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star of Bethel, responded to the invitation given by the Rurford Chapter of Rurford to visit them on last Thursday evening, Nov. 21st.

Recent's Paul Chapter had also received an invitation but owing to lack of conveyances and long drive they thought it advisable not to accept. We arrived about six o'clock and were cordially welcomed by the sisters and brothers of Rurford. Introductions were exchanged and the time passed in conversation until seven thirty when a march was formed and led by sister Walker the marshal of Mt. Vernon chapter to the banquet room, where a beautiful supper had been prepared. The special meeting followed the banquet, the work being accomplished by the Rurford Chapter, who executed it with dignity and grace.

Comments by guest worthy mention, but worthy praise, and by present officers of both chapters were enjoyed. It was felt by the chapters that can have a good time.

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOANNA B. HAYFORD OF CANTON.

Canton citizens have once more been saddened by a sudden death in the past few days. Mrs. Joanna B. Hayford, widow of the late Omer Hayford, passed away at her home about five o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Hayford had been in poor health for some time past, being a sufferer from rheumatism, which had troubled her more for a few days. She was feeling better Sunday afternoon and assisted in the household duties as usual. About five o'clock she sat down in a chair beside the stove to listen to her granddaughter read. As she raised a pillow to put behind her shoulders she suddenly expired without warning.

Mrs. Hayford was born in Canton on the farm now owned by Lewis Poland and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard H. Beck. She would have been 50 years old the 15th day of next month. On March 27, 1904, she married Omer Hayford who passed away five years ago. She is survived by one son, Asa E. Hayford and two daughters, Corrie E. Hayford and Mrs. Myrtle B. Jones of Bangor. The eldest daughter, Mrs. Asa A. Tisdell, passed away last April. Mrs. Hayford, son and daughter, Corrie E. Hayford, lived on the farm which has been in the Hayford family for generations. Mrs. Hayford also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Mary Noyes and Mrs. Jane Riddison of Cambridge, Mass., and one brother, Eliza Beck, who is in Iowa, and a grandchild, Arthur L. Riddle O. Jr. of Bangor, A. Albert W. and Eliza Tisdell.

Mrs. Hayford, whose careful life has been spent in Canton, and whose kindly sympathetic nature won all hearts will be missed by the entire community, and the sympathy of all go out to the bereaved ones.

Mrs. Hayford was a beloved member of Canton Grange and of John A. Dodge Relief Corps.

Considerable benefit had been derived from the visit and one sister expressed the wish that visits might be exchanged at least once a month. That of course, would be impossible, but an interchange of calls occasionally are certainly conducive to good fellowship and enthusiasm for the work.

The ride down and back was delightful as the weather was so beautiful. For this season of the year, the fact of reports of two cars found the evening so inspiring and the air so balmy that plenty of time was spent on the return trip. The car did not stop to see the view but simply contemplated it. Any day it was a grand, good time, and the only regrets are that every member of Purity Chapter could not have gone.

THANKSGIVING.

Lacy Lareon
For the wealth of the pathless forests,
Whereon no axe may fall;
For the winds that haunt the branches;
The young bird's timid call;
For the red leaves drooping like rubies
Upon the dark green sod;
For the waving of the forests,
I thank Thee, O my God!

And what do you say is the very best way
To show we are grateful on Thanksgiving day?
The best thing that hearts that are thankful can do
Is this: to make thankful other hearts too.
For lives that are sunny and grateful and glad,
To carry their sunshine to hearts that are sad;
For children who have all they want and to spare,
Their good things with poor little children to share,
For this will bring blessings, and this is the way
To show you are thankful on Thanksgiving Day.

THANKSGIVING—THE HOME DAY.

By Rev. Dr. N. D. Hills.
Thanksgiving is the home day. It is the day for the heart and its affections.
It is a day for the dreams and the ideals of youth and maiden. It is a day for youth away from home to freshen their hopes and kindle their aspirations. Upon this day the son returns to his mother and the daughter to her father, together with the little brother. Upon this day the fire burns brightly on the old hearthstone, and there far off on sea or land look long toward the family festival, even as a bird after long travels longs for its nest. This festival of the family is wholly American, repeating no tradition, echoing no foreign custom, commemorating no hero, no epoch, no revolution. Our fathers founded this holiday that stood for the home as the typical American institution. America is the only nation in the world that has a holiday devoted to the home and the family.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Thanksgiving Day, the Day peculiarly and specially the Nation's own, is coming to be looked upon, more and more, each year, as a personal and exclusive possession. In the joy of the National festival, which broadens and enlarges our sympathies, a note of individual happiness and content has entered into the observance of the holiday.

And so it comes about that we think of the Day with mingled feelings of gratitude or indifference according to our various points. To some, the event of the football field eclipses all others, to many more the turkey is the emblem of the day and the loaded table, appealing to the gastronomic sense, is the dominant of Thanksgiving emotions. But to all there should be some appreci-

How to Use Peruna
for Coughs and Colds

If Peruna were used at the beginning of every cold, coughs would generally be prevented.
After the cough begins Peruna will generally stop it just as quickly as it can be stopped. To stop a cough before all of the expectation has been removed is to do great things.
After the expectation has been removed the cough will stop.
That is the only proper way to stop a cough.
Constantly a cough depends upon a certain condition of the throat or bronchial tubes, in which there is little or no expectation.
The problem of stopping such a cough is a slightly different one.
In those cases Peruna ought to be taken, but sometimes it is necessary that local treatment be added.
Every one who has a troublesome cough or a lingering cold should write the Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio, for a free copy of the "Cure of Coughs." There is no free pamphlet distributed to-day of more real value to the sick and afflicted than the "Cure of Coughs." It is filled from cover to cover with actual cases of coughs, colds and other chronic diseases in all stages and complications. You could scarcely fail to find your case exactly described in this book.
To neglect to do everything possible to stop a cough is to neglect to prevent a serious illness. Peruna has enjoyed a great reputation as a remedy in such cases for thirty or forty years. As a rule, a cough was once a sign of it is usually afterwards an indication of some chronic disease. Peruna is a remedy of such value that all advertisements put together These who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

of Life.

Streator, Ill.—"I shall always praise
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound wherever I go. It has done me so much good at Change of Life, and it has also helped my daughter. It is one of the grandest medicines for women that can be

Philadelphia, Pa.—"It was at the 'Change of Life' that I turned to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, using it as a tonic to build up my system, with beneficial results."—Mrs.
SARA HAYWARD, 1825 W. Venango St., (Clage) Phila., Pa.

San Francisco, Cal.—"I have taken
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for many years whenever I would feel bad. I have gone through the Change of Life without any troubles and thank the Compound for it. I recommend it to young girls and to women of all ages."—Mrs. C. BARNES, 3032 25th St., San Francisco, Cal.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's tion of the gifts which have made the year one of joy and gladness.

It is only natural that after the se-sons of hope and promise and fulfillment should come the season of Thanksgiving to the Creator and Giver of all, and it is but fair and honest that we give a part of the day to a careful summing up of all that has made life worth while.
Let us give thanks for days crowned with love and good cheer, for time in which to work with hands and brain, for a busy life that has crowded out the thought of small worries and an-noyances.
Let us be thankful for friendship, and the opportunity to be friendly to those who need.
Let us be thankful for all the experiences of life, for sorrow which has made us strong and has taught us the value of happiness, for hard work which has made us appreciate rest, for responsibilities which have given us wise experience and ability to accomplish.
Let us gratefully acknowledge the Source of all our blessings and joys.

Your Child May Have Worms

Keep a watchful eye on your child's health. Above all, guard against worms.
Familiar symptoms of worms in children are: Distended stomach, forced tongue, belching, variable appetite, increased thirst, pale face, enlarged abdomen, constipation, pale face of leaden tint, black rings around eyes, itching of nostrils, linguist, irritability, disturbed sleep, grinding of teeth, irregularity of pulse. (Grown folks are subject to worms also.)
The one best remedy is Dr. Talcott's
Little's Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. First sold by my father in 1870, today it has a world wide reputation. Good for adults also. Get a bottle today—at your dealer's. See

Kidney Troubles Attack Rumford Falls Men and Women, Old and Young.

Kidney ills seize young and old. Often come with little warning. Children suffer in their early years—Can't control the kidney secretions. Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain.

Women weary, can't do daily work. Men have lame and aching backs. If you have any form of kidney ills You must reach the cause—the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys—The following testimony proves their worth:

Mrs. C. F. Ware, Pleasant St., South Paris, Me., says: "For some time one of my family suffered from kidney trouble. There were sharp, shooting pains through the small of the back, with dizzy spells and headaches. On a friend's advice, Doan's Kidney Pills were used. They gave prompt relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WILSON'S MILLS.

Miss Iva Littlejohn has a new piano. Mrs. Smith is assisting her in her lessons.

Mrs. H. H. Hooper of Norway was an over Sunday guest of S. S. Bennett. Mrs. Bertha Wilson has had water put into her house and barn, a great convenience in the winter. Elwyn Storey and Claude Linnell did the work.

Mrs. D. C. Bennett met with quite a serious accident while washing her separator, as she cut off a finger at the first joint. Joseph H. Hart took Mr. and Mrs. Bennett to Colbrook in his auto, that the finger might have the care of a surgeon.

Leslie Hart has sold his horses to George Nason, and Monte Fox took them up through the woods to Camp Walatana.

Leslie Hart has moved his family to Errol, where he scales through the winter.

Elwyn Storey and Claude Linnell have taken a job of putting timber at Parsons's Landing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Bennett and Miss Cecil Bennett arrived home Friday after a fortnight's visit at Lewiston and South Paris.

School closed Nov. 22nd, Frank Smith teacher. After a ten weeks vacation, he will open the winter term of school.

MANY USES FOR BIRCH ARE RECORDED.

From furnishing material for a canoe in which to hunt whales some hundred odd years ago to supplying New England factories of today with 11,000 cords of wood annually for shoe pegs and shanks is, according to the department of agriculture, only part of the services the birch tree has rendered and is rendering the people of America.

Sir Alexander Mackenzie, the explorer, tells us in a bulletin just issued on the uses of birch, that he and his men were found at the mouth of the Mackenzie River. He failed to attack the game, and concluded that it was probably for the best. While the canoes are frail, it is pointed out that the bark of which they are made resists decay longer than any other part of the tree.

It would be difficult, the department goes on to say, to estimate the value of the service of the birch bark canoe in the discovery, exploration, development, and settlement of the northern part of this continent. From the Arctic circle to the Great Lakes, and southward, for a century and a half, that light but exceedingly strong and serviceable vessel threaded the lakes and rivers, bearing trade and carrying exploration where no other boat could go. The French explorers and missionaries made journeys of hundreds of miles in these canoes, often carrying cargoes which would seem beyond the capacity of such frail vessels.

The range of uses to which birch wood is put is surprisingly large. According to the department, the articles into which it goes range from church pews to kitchen tables, and from organ pipes to naval guns. We may have our first sleep in a birch canoe.

Many people have an idea that axes and saws have passed out of use, but the amount of birch previously used as a material for axes and saws is shown in New England records in this section. Birch, the department says, is often put on the market in imitation of other woods, as I will show on which we get our cotton and our thread are birch species, and the last on which our shoes are made are likely to be birch trees. The largest of the spruce knots 10,000 yards, the smallest 20 yards. The wood's beauty, strength, and lightness make it prominent as a material for naval construction, and the same qualities bring it into extensive use for flooring. ONE BITTER MEMORY OF CHILDHOOD GONE

CASTOR OIL IS TASTELESS NOW.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is Pure. Yet Without Taste or Smell.

Now that castor oil is tasteless, a perfect laxative has arrived. Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil, a new product of the Kellogg oil mills, is so absolutely without taste or smell that even the children do not object to it. Good bye, drugs and pills.

Castor oil has come into its own again. Doctors have always recommended it. The Kellogg way of making it does not take a single bit of good out of castor oil, rather it purifies the oil and makes it more effective.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil does even better work than the old-fashioned kind. Sold at all drug stores in 25c and 50c bottles, not in bulk. Ask for it by name or you may be given the old kind, mixed or flavored.

The signature, Kellogg's, is on every bottle in a green castor leaf trade mark. Made only by Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., refiners of vegetable oils.

may open many a door, sit on many a chair, and write on many a desk which we imagine to be mahogany, but which is really birch stained to resemble the genuine article.

Nine species of birch grow in the United States, but sweet, yellow, paper, and river birch are those most used. About 45,000,000 board feet of the wood finds its way to the market yearly. Paper birch is one of the few American species with a hold on the forest stronger than it had when America was discovered. Large tracts are now covered with birch where there was little of it a century ago. It comes in after fire, and some tracts it has taken possession of cover hundreds of square miles.

BETTER THAN SPANKING. Spanking will not cure children of wetting the bed, because it is not a habit but a dangerous disease. The C. H. Rowan Drug Co., Dept. 207, Chicago, Ill., have discovered a strictly scientific remedy for this distressing disease and to make known its merits they will send a 50¢ package securely wrapped and prepaid absolutely free to any reader of The Citizen.

KEEPING WASTE PIPES CLEAN. Although the waste pipes in your kitchen, washstand and bathroom may never become clogged up, yet unless they are cleaned there is a great amount of dirt that lodges in the trap which in time becomes dangerous. Water may back up in the drain pipes and force this dirt, which becomes a black slime, into the sink, causing all sorts of danger.

It is a very simple matter to keep these pipes cleaned and there is no danger, either from the sink or from gases that may result from the accumulating and decaying matter there. Make a quantity of strong lye, the liquid potash variety.

Any druggist will tell you what quantity to mix to make what is known as 50 degree strength. For a kitchen sink it will take a pint to fill the trap. For the bath tub and washstand it will take a quart for each trap. Just before retiring pour this down the sink and when the water is allowed to run down.

In the morning the first current of fresh water through the waste pipes will clean out the trap and leave it like new.

This is because the strong solution of liquid lye actually converted the thick deposit of dirt and slime in the trap into soft soap, and so with fresh water it all dissolved, loosened up and washed away.

If this is done say every six months the pipes will always be clean enough to give assurance of no danger from poisonous gases or even germs from these traps should their contents suddenly back up and part of them dry about the edges of the sink. It is a cheap and effective way to do away with all danger of dirty drain pipe traps.

BEHUT BY AWFUL DANGERS. Our friend Tom recently married. His bride, being from the Pacific coast, where thunderstorms are rare and gentle, became terrified when a genuine Eastern rip-roarer broke loose, and sought safety in a closet. Presently came a stream from her place of refuge.

"What's the matter?" inquired her husband.

"I'm scared," she answered, half crying, half laughing. "I'm afraid to come out because of the lightning, and I'm afraid to stay in here because there's a mouse."

THANKSGIVING HYMN.

By C. S. G.

Now, Father, the harvest is ended;
The twilight has curtained the sun,
With hearts overflowing with gladness,
We thank Thee for what Thou hast done.

We thank Thee not only, great Giver,
For harvests of wheat and of corn;
We thank Thee for Thy daily mercies
And works Thou renewest each morn.

"Thou crownest the year with Thy goodness," Thou blesses our lives with Thy care,
The earth is too small for Thy kindness,
Thy mercies are strewn everywhere.

Thou fillest the earth with Thy andices,
Thou sendest the dew and the rains,
Thou givest us all that is needful
To open the fruits and the grains.

O, Shepherd our lives Thou protect-est,
Each day Thou hast guided our feet, Thou wanderers in the shadows of the night.

We never can measure Thy greatness,
So vast is Thy power and might,
Thou teach us, our Father, all things,
To use for Thy praise and the right.

"THANKSGIVING TIME"
Jan. V. M.

In the springtime when the roses
Scented their fragrance rich and rare,
O'er meadows lush and pasture,
And the wild wood everywhere.

They bloom for us all families,
With their beauty must sublime,
Yet we long again for autumn,
And the glad Thanksgiving time.

Our minds revert to childhood,
And our eyes are dimmed with tears,
To recall the gladness once,
Of our joys in bygone years.

When we used to share the turkey,
For a big Thanksgiving dinner,
With grudging pie and cake

Our school days number with the rest
Of all our earthly joys,
The future did not trouble,
When we were college boys.

Our hair was long and auburn,
Just like a lion's mane,
Pompadour for the amiable,
At the coming football game.

Now we often stop and ponder,
Thinking of the youth that's done,
Yes, we're thankful we're still living
Blessed of the Lord that's done.

And while we ponder on our lot,
Gratefully, saying of our lot,
Thinking ours is now trouble,
But we're dreaming, it is not.

So let us about our gratitude,
To our Heavenly Father's care,
And say about "Hosanna"
With glad Thanksgiving cheer.

Let us thank Thee, Heavenly Father,
For this Thanksgiving day,
For the blessing of Thy home,
The blessing of Thy love and grace.

Let us thank Thee, Heavenly Father,
For this Thanksgiving day,
For the blessing of Thy home,
The blessing of Thy love and grace.

Let us thank Thee, Heavenly Father,
For this Thanksgiving day,
For the blessing of Thy home,
The blessing of Thy love and grace.

Let us thank Thee, Heavenly Father,
For this Thanksgiving day,
For the blessing of Thy home,
The blessing of Thy love and grace.

Let us thank Thee, Heavenly Father,
For this Thanksgiving day,
For the blessing of Thy home,
The blessing of Thy love and grace.

Let us thank Thee, Heavenly Father,

William Tell FLOUR

Is famous pie-crust flour
— makes it tender and light and flaky and perfectly di-gestible. Just as good for bread and cake and biscuits and whatever you are baking.
And the most economical flour milled — gives you most leaves to the sack.

Your grocer keeps William Tell. Insist on it next time you order flour.

Will yet have power to clutch its gull?
Shrimp have no pockets, do they say?
Behold I show you then the way:

Wait not till death shall about the door,
But send your eagles on before.

Let to that growth of his beard
To help God's poor folk lead the Lord.

To-day, my brethren—do not wait,
Just beyond stands Dame Kelly's gate.

And would you build a mansion fair;
To house, send your lumber there.

Each stick that on her workpile lies
May raise a dome beyond the skies:

You stop the roots within her walls,
And girdle size your marble halls:

For every pain that stops the wind
There shrouds one with Jasper lined.

Your health is gone, your form lies Cold, lies in the city parrot with gold!

Your heart is held by hands divine;
It bears a name that marks it thine.

Behold the bargain we have made!
With every that bond is paid.

No moth with rat, no thief to steal,
No suffering heart doth e'er feel:

The scattered dust that we have given
Is gathered by your God in heaven.

Drop out the words: Who of his hand
Hath this that's gone about his land?

Let us thank Thee, Heavenly Father,
For this Thanksgiving day,
For the blessing of Thy home,
The blessing of Thy love and grace.

Let us thank Thee, Heavenly Father,
For this Thanksgiving day,
For the blessing of Thy home,
The blessing of Thy love and grace.
